

Azenta to Host GENEWIZ Week November 6-10, 2023

BURLINGTON, Mass., October 19, 2023 (PRNewswire) – Azenta, Inc. (Nasdaq: AZTA) today announced that GENEWIZ Multiomics and Synthesis Solutions from Azenta Life Sciences will be hosting GENEWIZ Week November 6-10, 2023. The weeklong event will feature various virtual educational workshops, exclusive promotions, and a special grant program to recognize excellence in genomics research.

Throughout the course of the week, the experts in areas including next generation sequencing (NGS), PCR technologies and gene synthesis (GS) will be uncovering the many ways genomics is shaping workflows to go from sample-to-insights and from synthetic design to biological constructs. Each virtual workshop will be followed by an interactive roundtable with Azenta experts and guest speakers.

Each day of GENEWIZ Week will feature a different workshop topic. Online registration is now open.

Date	Time	Workshop Topic
Monday, November 6	10am & 3pm EST	“Using Sanger to Complement ONT Whole Plasmid Sequencing”
Tuesday, November 7	10am & 3pm EST	“Antibody Sequencing to Synthesis: An Innovative Workflow Leveraging Machine Learning to Prioritize Leads”
Wednesday, November 8	10am & 3pm EST	“Unlocking Lentivirus Potential: Benefits, Challenges & Production”
Thursday, November 9	10am & 3pm EST	“How Does it All Add Up? Quantitative PCR (qPCR) vs. Digital PCR (dPCR)”
Friday, November 10	10am & 3pm EST	“RNA-Seq Bioinformatics Workshop”

During GENEWIZ Week, the company will recognize excellence in genomics research through its grant program totaling over $40,000 in credits, including a $20,000 grant towards a Proteomics Olink project. This year, seven winners will be awarded a grant for use towards a GENEWIZ service, as well as a bonus grant for consumables. Abstract submissions are due by November 3, 2023 for consideration, and winners will be announced after GENEWIZ Week concludes.

“We are thrilled to bring back our annual GENEWIZ Week,” stated Ginger Zhou, SVP & General Manager, GENEWIZ Multiomics and Synthesis Solutions. “This event is a highlight for the team, and we look forward to a week full of collaboration and opportunities to engage with our customers.”
